Did coffee help to solve the murder case?

The main theme of series called Twin Peaks is murder of Laura Palmer. Investigation is lead by FBI agent Dale Cooper, who is a huge fan of coffee and cherry pie. Actually everyone who lives in Twin Peaks is a huge fan of coffee and cherry pie. Let's find out if their favourite food and drinks helped them with finding the murderer.
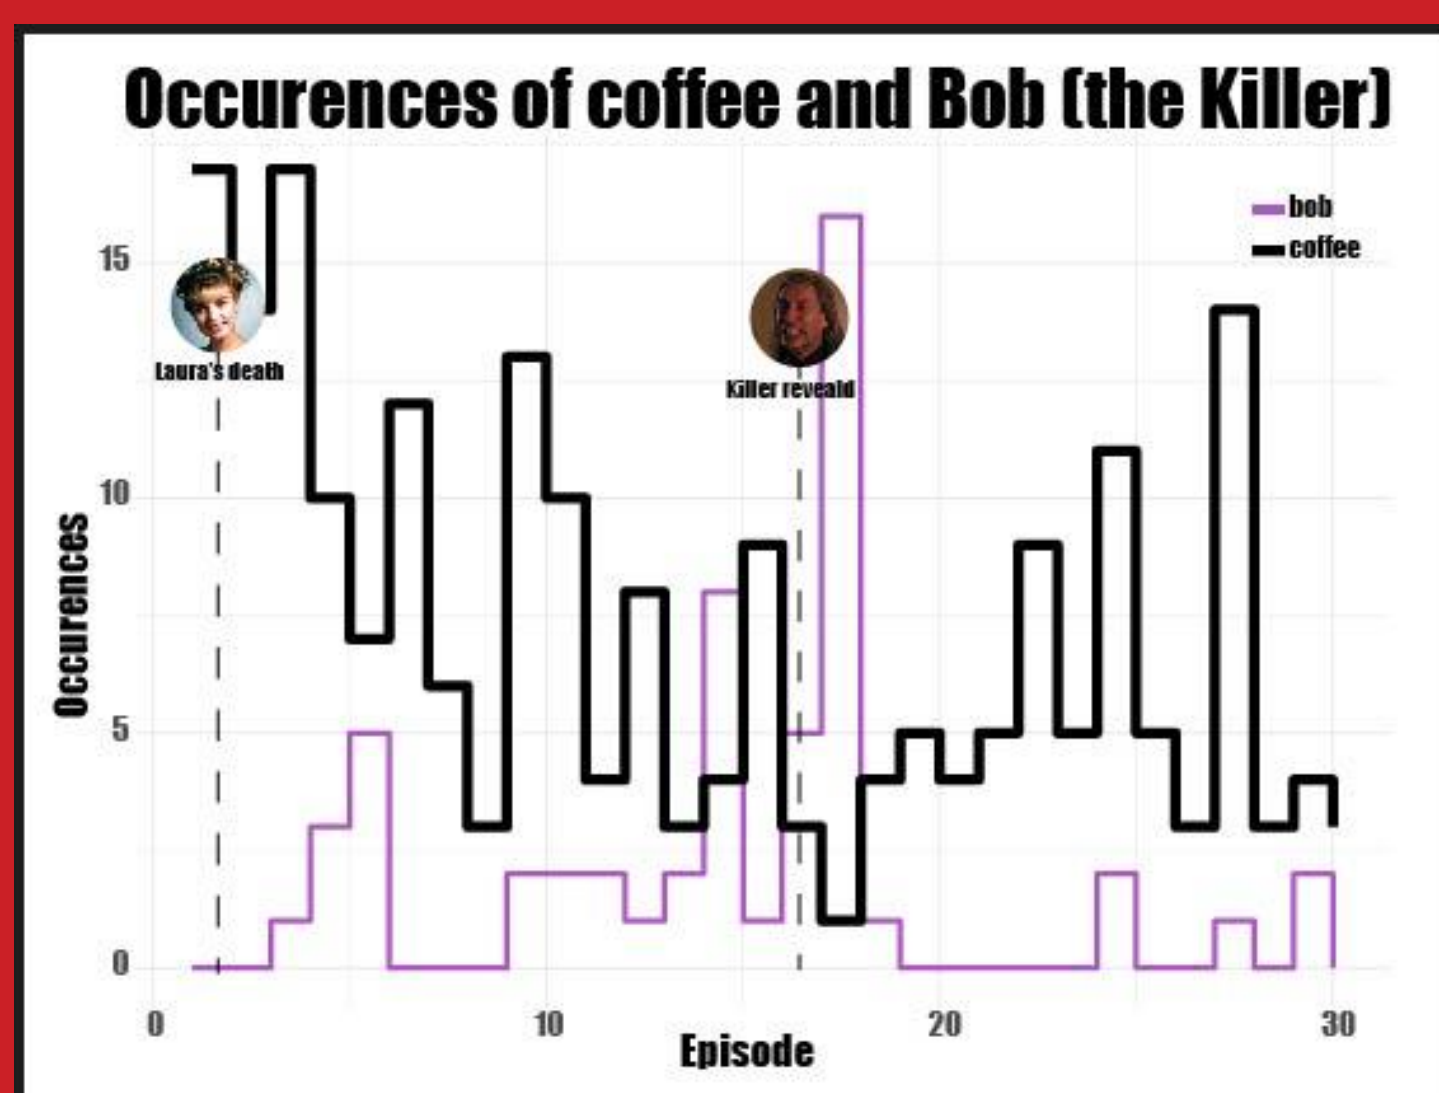

The most important thing on charts below are 2 marked moments: Laura's death and killer revelation. Apart from that, we can observe occurences of specific words in subbtitles per episode. There was 30 episodes in total in Twin Peaks series.

Occurences of Laura, drinks and food

On this plot we can see all most popular food and drinks that were consumed during the story. We can observe the fact that coffee is the most consumed drink during the whole series. Which is pretty obvious – it's Twin Peaks favorite!

Occurences of Laura and coffee

On this plot we can observe mentions of Laura and coffee. We can see that at the beginning of investigation, when everybody is excited about it, there are much more occurences of Laura name and more coffee consumption.

Occurences of coffee and Bob (the Killer)

On this plot we can see how coffee motivated people to find Bob, who was Laura's killer. There is obvious connection between their occurrences.

Occurences of particular food and drinks

On this plot we have just food and drinks. It's supposed to show us the influence of particular food during 30 episodes.

DAMN GOOD COFFEE